ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of selectively compressing data packets is achieved by bypassing a compression process responsive to detecting a first marker in the data packets. The compression process is resumed responsive to detecting a second marker in the data

5   packets.